

SUMMARY OF THE VOTES OF LEADERS

Taft's Election Seems Certain, It Being Only A Question Of His Majority.

NEW YORK, OHIO AND INDIANA SAFE

Conservative Figures Give Taft 295 Electoral Votes:
Bryan, 188; Hitchcock Makes Even Much Larger Claims For His Candidate.

According to Raymond, a political writer in a Chicago Sunday paper, a careful resume of the national political situation, giving Bryan credit all the doubtful states, Taft will have 295 to Bryan's 188 votes in the electoral college.

Chairman Hitchcock of the national republican committee even goes further and places Mr. Taft's vote at 317 to 127, the difference between the two being that Hitchcock claims all the doubtful states and places several of the states Raymond gave to Bryan in the doubtful column.

Compared with this is W. J. Abraham's chief brace, in New York City and across the Harlem river Pat McCarron sees an opportunity to pay back his old rivals by handling Brooklyn for Taft.

This, for the democratic camp, but the general feeling of security in Taft's election appears in manufacturing New York where preparations are being made for an immediate resumption of industries on an increased scale at once. The same is true of Ohio and while the situation there is a mixed one owing to local conditions it is not possible that the state will be turned upside down and Taft defeated by the local fight.

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN FRANK HITCHCOCK

both, a democratic ward, who claims of 225 and possibly 233 votes for Bryan and 110 or possibly 100 for Taft.

In making an analysis of the three claims the Abbott figures are given a black eye to start with when Wisconsin is placed in the probable Bryan states together with New York, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Montana. Kansas, Indiana, Ohio and Nebraska are claimed outright without any reservations in the same line, with California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, North Dakota, Oregon, West Virginia and Washington as doubtful Taft states.

In Raymond's figures Nebraska is given to Bryan but Indiana, New York, Ohio and the other so-called doubtful states are placed in the Taft column. In fact Raymond believes that Taft will carry all the states Roosevelt did four years ago with the exception of Nebraska and Maryland; these two states with the increased votes of Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Colorado and seven new votes from Oklahoma, since last national election bring Bryan's total up to 188.

Chairman Hitchcock on the other hand claims Nebraska, makes Maryland doubtful, believes Colorado will go for Taft, is certain of Idaho's three votes, makes Kentucky doubtful, puts Missouri in the same column and takes Montana's three votes into the Taft column.

Roundup both sides of the question carefully it becomes apparent that Mr. Hitchcock's claims have the best grounds for consideration. Wisconsin can in no manner be classed as doubtful any more than Indiana, Ohio or New York can be placed without question in the democratic column.

In New York state reports would indicate that a reversal of feeling has been experienced within the past few days. Plying Congress in the western part does not trust Charles Murphy,

In Indiana the same conditions exist. It is a question there more of local issues than of national politics. Indiana has always gone republican when a bitter fight has been made and the battle royal that is being waged there at present can certainly be classed as a bitter fight.

Where the democratic leaders can base their claims to Wisconsin being anything but a Taft state is hard to discover. Every indication points to a Taft majority by figures which vary from sixty to a hundred thousand. In fact, the collector for the National democratic committee who recently visited Janesville seeking funds for Ohio, Indiana and New York campaigns was authority for the statement that nothing was expected from Wisconsin.

One of the amusing features of the campaign thus far has been the claims set forth by a Chicago political writer who has made claims of democratic victories in Ohio, Indiana and New York states in his opening paragraph and then exploded his own theories by statement of facts further on. This same writer now concedes Taft will carry all three of the states in question.

Telegraphic reports show that in all three of these states the speakers, particularly Taft, Sherman and Bryan, have been received by large crowds, showing that the interest is felt in the campaign much more so than in the middle and Northwest.

In Wisconsin Governor Davidson has headed the candidates on the republican state ticket that have taken the field and Senator La Follette has been out for a week. In each county the same work of local orators holding nightly meetings in different towns as in Rock county is being followed out and by election day every town and city in the state will have had a political meeting of some sort.

bind up the wound and the office to which he was removed soon presented a gory spectacle. After he had quieted down he was removed to the police station where Dr. Woods took several stitches in the wound. He was sober and apparently little the worse off for his experience when released this morning.

MADE ESCAPE BY SAWING THE BARS

Counterfeiters Arrested by Former Chief, Appleby Made Their Escape From Madison Jail.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 26.—After searching all night for Hugo, Albert, and Rudolph Dommersting, the counterfeiters, who escaped last evening, Sheriff Kittleson this morning acknowledged that his efforts had been unavailing and no trace of the fugitives had been found.

These desperate men, who were arrested at their home near Rhineland, by United States Chief Deputy Marshall, W. H. Appleby, 12 weeks ago for running a counterfeit mill, gained their freedom last evening by sliding from the third story of the jail, down a rope of bedding, after having laboriously sawed out the iron bars of the window with a crude saw made from a steel plate of their cell.

They had gained a key to their cell and had worked for days at sawing the bars of the window. They could work only a short while at a time, as the jail is frequently inspected by watchmen.

They used soap on the saw to deaden the sound. It is believed they were provided with a cell key from outside, and that they have had assistance in getting away from Madison, as their flight was discovered in half an hour and the main roads from the city were carefully watched.

GENERAL ELECTION IN CANADA TODAY

Will Decide Whether Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government Will Be Retained.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 26.—The political complexion of the Dominion for the next five years will be decided tonight. The result of the general election today will determine whether the government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be continued in office, or give way to the conservatives under the leadership of Robert L. Borden. The campaign has been an exceedingly lively one.

At the headquarters of the Liberal organization here a substantial victory for the government all along the line is forecasted. The conservatives, on the other hand, appear confident of making sufficient gains in Quebec, in the Maritime provinces and in Manitoba and the west to place the power of government in their hands.

The Liberal party is depending for success largely on the prosperous condition of the country, which has made marvelous progress commercially and industrially since Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into power. It is believed the conservative party is stronger than at the last election, four years ago, but the Liberal party is much better organized. The general belief is that the Liberal government will obtain a majority, though it may be considerably reduced by the opposition.

TAFT INVADES THE EASTERN COUNTRY

Says Only Way Bryan Influences Good Times is by Being Defeated For Office.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New Haven, Conn., Oct. 26.—"The only way Bryan ever influenced return of prosperity was by being beaten. That's the way he has brought on prosperity every time, and I hope the same method will be continued."

This was Taft's first message to Connecticut today, delivered to a crowd which greeted his train at Stamford.

The candidate was met at the station here and escorted by several marching clubs to the Second Regiment Armory, where he delivered his address.

In New Jersey, Patterson, N. J., Oct. 26.—Bryan addressed a large gathering here this morning in a polling room. He spoke on the basis of the campaign following closely the line of argument of former speeches.

CAMPAIGN WIND-UP TO BE IN STATE OF NEW YORK

Both Leading Presidential Candidates To Devote Week To Stumping State.

New York, Oct. 26.—That New York is regarded as the pivotal state in the election is evidenced by the fact that both the leading candidates for president will devote this, the concluding week of the campaign, to stumping tours that will extend from this city to Buffalo. In the consumption of their plans of making an extraordinary effort to carry this state, the managers of both the Taft and Bryan campaigns are now marshalling their best talent for the fray. Beginning today and continuing until Saturday night the state will ring with the oratory of the foremost campaign speakers of both parties. Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan will personally lead the oratorical battle.

There was great activity in democratic circles today in consequence of the visit to the city of Mr. Bryan. Upon his arrival in the city the democratic candidate for the presidency found awaiting him a program calculated to take up every moment of his time. Nine speeches were scheduled for the day and evening. The National Democratic club has arranged a reception in honor of the candidate at the clubhouse in Fifth avenue this afternoon. The reception is to be followed by a dinner, at which Mr. Bryan is to be the guest of honor. After the dinner the members of the club will personally escort Mr. Bryan to Madison Square Garden, where the great democratic mass-meeting of the campaign takes place tonight.

Mr. Bryan is to remain in this city and vicinity until tomorrow night, when he will start on a trip across the state, speaking in Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo.

Mr. Taft left New York this morning for a flying trip through Connecticut. The itinerary provides for speeches to be delivered in Stamford, South Norwalk, Bridgeport, Ansonia, Waterbury, Bristol, and New Britain, with an hour's stop in Hartford for a speech in the state capital. At New Haven Mr. Taft will be the recipient of a unique present from the faculty and students of Yale university. The present will take the form of a testimonial on a sheet of parchment to which practically every member of the faculty and student body has affixed his signature.

The republicans plan to throw an imposing array of speakers into the fight in this city during the remainder of this week. Mr. Taft and Gov. Hughes will speak together in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. In the Durland Riding academy Saturday night Secretary of State William Root will deliver his only address of the campaign. Starting Thursday Mr. Taft and Gov. Hughes will make a trip through the state together, speaking in Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, and making numerous rear-platform speeches on their journey between these cities.

Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, democratic candidate for governor, is to continue his record-breaking whirlwind tour during the week. According to the program laid down for him by the state committee, he is to speak in Kingston, Brooklyn, the Bronx, Ogdensburg, Auburn and Poughkeepsie.

OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices and presidential electors, make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote if it be there, or write any name that you wish to vote for, in the proper place. If you desire to vote for state, congressional, legislative and county offices of one party and presidential electors of another party, make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party ticket and also make a cross (X) or other mark in the ☐ at the right of the names of the candidates for president and vice-president you desire to vote for.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by marking a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the names of candidates for president and vice president whose names appear in the column above the names of the candidates for presidential electors, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the names of each candidate for elector for whom he wishes to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and the cross (X) or mark at the right of the names of the candidates for president and vice president shall count as a vote for each of the other candidates for presidential electors in such group whose names are not erased. If a voter wishes to vote for another person in place of a candidate whose name he has erased he may insert or write in the name of such person in one of the spaces in the blank column at the right of the ticket. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidate for president or vice president or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot is spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion as to such person's disability.

TELLS OF LOSSES BY FOREST FIRES

SEVERE DRAIN ON THE TIMBER SUPPLY, SAYS PINCHOT.

WATER, SHEDS DAMAGED

Destruction Results from Delay in Beginning to Fight the Flames—More Rangers Are Needed.

Washington, Oct. 28.—"In many ways the forest fires this year have been the worst I have ever known," said Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry bureau, Saturday. "The whole northern half of the country has been attacked, and the losses represent a severe drain on our timber supply. Besides destroying valuable timber and other property, the flames which have been raging during the last few weeks in the east have caused almost incalculable damage to water sheds of important streams supplying power for countless industries. In the Adirondacks the destruction has resulted in marring one of the nation's most useful playgrounds.

Fires Are Not Checked in Time.

"There is little or no difference between the fires of 1908 and those of other days, so far as causes are concerned. Unfortunately there is little difference in the way people have met them. In most states the fires have been allowed to burn until they threatened valuable property, and only then efforts were made to check them.

"The forest fire question resolves itself into one of the most important problems before the nation in the care of its resources. The destruction following a fire is not realized by some, and I sometimes believe that the greatest thing that could be done in furthering the movement for the conservation of forest resources would be to give as many people as possible a chance to visit a section that has been impoverished by a fire.

Ranger Patrol Is Favored.

"The warden plan has been fairly successful in places, but its fundamental weakness is that it is not a preventive system. To begin work after a fire has gained headway means that from the start the chances are against checking it before it has done great damage. No fire fighting method that did not provide for ranger patrol has shown itself to be wholly valuable. In the national forests we are meeting the situation with a satisfactory system, although the number of men in the field is insufficient and the rangers' districts are so large that the fire risk is raised above the point of safety. The one secret of fighting fires is to discover your fire as soon as possible, fight it as hard as you can, and refuse to leave until the last ember is dead."

Rain Extinguishes Forest Fires.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 26.—Reports from the eastern part of the state say rain which fell here did much toward extinguishing forest fires, which have destroyed many thousand dollars' worth of timber, feeding, etc. In some sections the people had left their homes because of the proximity of the fire, and were living in tents ready to fly at a moment's notice. These are returning to their homes.

Pennsylvania Drought Broken.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—The drought which has continued in this state for a early two months has been completely broken in some sections, while in other localities fitful showers have been falling. A report from Williamsport states that the drought in that part of the state has been broken and that the forest fires have been extinguished. It has been raining incessantly for many hours.

Rhemes, France, Oct. 26.—Three train thieves, believed to be Americans, who were known under the names of Bard, Bertha and Cauda, have been sent to prison for 12 months for robbing passengers on east-bound trains.

ELECTION NOTICE.

OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK, October 26, 1908—

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING ON THE VOTING MACHINE: 1st. Close the curtain. 2d. Pull the Yellow Lever having on it the names of your political party over to the Right until the Bell rings. (This will turn down the Pointers over the names of the candidates in your party.) 3d. If you wish to vote a Straight Party Ticket, leave the Pointers as they are (Down, in their voting position). But if you wish to "split," or "scratch," your ticket, turn Up the Pointer from over the name of the candidate in your own party that you wish to cut out, and then turn Down the Pointer over the name of the candidate you wish to vote for that office, and leave it there. 4th. Open the Curtain. NOTE—unless you are sure that you know just how to operate the machine, it would be well for you to practice on some machine before election day.

HOW TO VOTE ON QUESTIONS.

To vote Yes, turn the Question Pointer to the word Yes, and leave it there. To vote No, turn the Question Pointer to the word No, and leave it there.

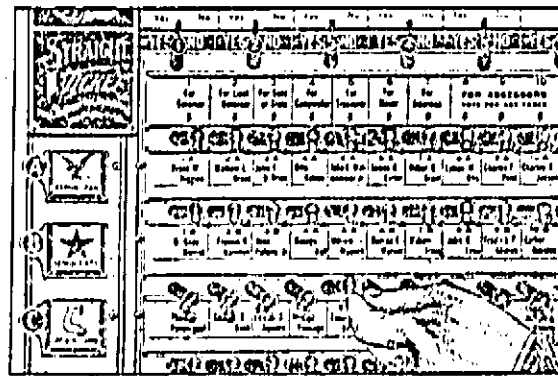

VOTER PULLING OVER PARTY LEVER.

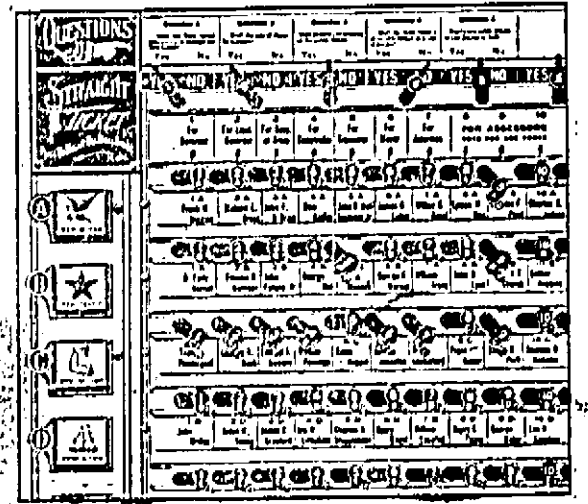

Leave the Pointers as they are (down in a voting position).

Move the Red Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go.

This will count your vote, open the Curtain, and set the machine for the next voter.

[illegible]

After the votes are arranged, move the Red Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go. This will count one vote for every candidate that has a Pointer left down over his name.

THE ABOVE CUT SHOWS:

That the voter has voted Party Lever "C" and then Split his vote for Treasurer, on Column 5.
That he has voted for Assessors, voting for three on Column 9 (for which office he is permitted to vote for any three candidates on either of the Columns, 8, 9, and 10).
That he has voted "Yes" on Questions 1 and 2.
That he has not voted on Questions 3 and 5.
That he has voted "No" on Question 4.
If the voter desires, he may make any further changes while the Curtain remains closed, as the vote is not registered until the Curtain is opened.
The Pointers must be left down over the names to be voted for. If the voter turns them back the vote will not be counted, as the opening of the Curtain turns back the Pointers and counts the vote.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Presented in Simplified Form for the Consideration of Wisconsin Voters Prior to Election Day.

Art. 5. Allowing the governor six days instead of three in which to approve acts passed by the legislature.

Art. 6. Permitting the state to appropriate money for the construction or improvement of public highways.

Art. 7. Providing that none but a fully naturalized citizen of the United States may vote after December 1, 1912. Now a new-comer votes after a residence of one year, and a mere declaration of his "intention to become a citizen."

Art. 8. Enabling the legislature to impose taxes on incomes.

Art. 9. Raising the minimum school age to six years from four.

Art. 10. Abolishing the state census. The Senate is enough.

Art. 11. Authorizing the legislature to make appropriations for the purchase, preservation or development of forests and waterways.

Art. 12. Increasing the compensation of each legislator from $500 to $1,000 per session.

WISCONSIN REPUBLICANISM

Loyalty to the republican party has always characterized a liberal majority of the voters in the larger state, and while party organization has been disrupted through the workings of the primary law, there is no reason to believe that political sentiment has changed to any large extent.

The independent voter is a new factor, and just what his independence of thought and action may lead him to do, is one of the perplexing problems. Many men share with the senior senator admiration for Bryan, as a man, but they are not in sympathy with his vagaries, and have no confidence in his party.

The factional fight which demoralized the party for several years is at an end, and the only faction now which appears on the surface, is within the ranks of the dominant faction, but this should not interfere with support of the national and state ticket.

There is no reason why Taft and Davidson should not carry the state by 100,000 majority, and they will if republican voters vote, on election day. The Bryan party has nothing to offer, for every reform measure that could be thought of is already on tap, and the republican party is pledged to keep the ball rolling.

The friends of the senior senator are disturbed because of his proposed action in supporting independent candidates who are disgruntled over primary defeat, but this can not do much harm as it will only add a couple of democratic assemblymen to a minority which is not dangerous.

The senator is supporting Taft and the national party and as he never does anything wrong he is probably right in pursuing the policy adopted on state affairs.

THE COUNTY TICKET

No state senator is better known than John M. Whitehead, the man who has represented the county for the past eight years, and whose name again heads the county republican ticket. Senator Whitehead enjoys not only the confidence of republicans throughout the state, but commands as well the respect of men who do not agree with him, because of his integrity and ability.

It is no disparagement to other counties to say that no district in the state is more ably represented than the 13th senatorial district, and the wisdom of the voters is shown in again placing him in nomination. He is an intelligent and conservative law-maker and a man of cool deliberate judgment which is never warped by prejudice.

The candidates for the assembly are also men whose names inspire confidence. Grant U. Fisher of Janesville is a life-long resident of the county. He is closely identified with the business interests of the city, and is known throughout the state as one of the men who by untiring effort has helped to make the state fair association a success. He is a man of good executive ability whose influence will be felt in the lower house. His reputation for fairness inspires confidence, and he will be loyally supported in the belief that good judgment will prompt him to act wisely, and in the best interests of his constituency and the commonwealth.

Mr. Whitte of Edgerton, who has been selected to represent the northern district, is also a successful businessman, and no better choice could have been made by the republican voters. He has gained for himself a reputation for honesty and ability, and is well qualified for service in the assembly. That he will be elected by a good majority is not a question of doubt.

Mr. Smith of Beloit has been nominated to succeed himself, and this action on the part of his constituency is a flattering endorsement. Rock county will be well represented in the legislature.

The men whose names appear in the republican column, as candidates for the several county offices, are also good men. John L. Fisher heads the list for the office of district attorney. The voters were so well satisfied with his work that they supported him for a second term. This kind of commendation is always gratifying. Howard W. Lee for county clerk, Charles H. Weirick for register of deeds, and James Earle for clerk of the court comprise a trio of county officials who have been tested and not found wanting. The friends of Arthur M. Church are confident that he will make a good treasurer, and R. C. Schell, the candidate for sheriff, enjoys the reputation won by experience which insures intelligent and efficient service in that important office.

This excellent county and legislative ticket headed by James O. Davidson for governor and William H. Taft for president furnishes a list of names which honor the republican constituency. The name of Henry A. Cooper for congress should not be overlooked. While the Gazette did not support him at the primary election, he is the party's candidate and should be elected by an old-time majority.

WATERSON ON BRYAN

Henry Waterson of Kentucky, a life-long democrat, and the veteran editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, expressed the following choice sentiments on Bryan in 1896:

"The three B's of Bryan's campaign seem to be Repudiation, Riot and Ruin."—July 29, 1896.

"Bryan and Populism, Bryan and Repudiation, Bryan and Riot, Bryan and Ruin."—July 27, 1896.

"Mr. Bryan is nothing but a Populist, in doctrine and practice."—July 16, 1896.

"That any party should have stooped to take up a candidate with such crazy ideas of political economy is hardly more disgusting than alarming."—August 26, 1896.

"He is utterly ignorant of the simplest facts of our past financial history."—September 3, 1896.

"The speeches which William J. Bryan has been making on his tour are without exception the most incendiary and dangerous utterances ever addressed the American people by a presidential candidate."—September 5, 1896.

"Mr. William J. Bryan has come to Kentucky, and Kentuckians have taken to his measure. He is a distinguished dodger. He is a daring adventurer. He is a political fakir. He is not of the material of which the people of the United States have ever made a president, nor is he even of the material of which any party has ever before made a candidate for the presidency."—September 15, 1896.

"In no country in the world are demagogues so despised and distrusted as in America. Let the people once understand Bryan's real character and they will drop him."—September 15, 1896.

"It is apparent that Mr. Bryan is better adapted for a theatrical press agent than for a United States president. It is also apparent that he would shine still better standing on a red wagon oratorically selling some single preparation, like Bryan's blowed hudson for lunatics."—October 21, 1896.

"Bryan is beaten, ingloriously and overwhelmingly. So closes the second great era of national peril which has menaced our government. Thank God. In the name of a long suffering people, thank God."—November 4, 1896.

Mr. Waterson opposed Mr. Bryan just as vigorously in 1900, but in supporting him this year, not because he expects to see him elected, but because he hopes that his third defeat will satisfy him, and leave the party united, and in condition to reorganize along conservative lines.

There are many old line democrats, who like Waterson, are attempting to conceal disgust by according to Bryan surface support. They are no more in sympathy with him than they are with Debs and socialism, and when he is defeated they will indulge in a quiet jubilee.

P. H. Grace, a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, recently wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, imploring him to Taft's attitude on the labor question. The President's reply, which is too long to publish, covers the ground of indignation, and proves that Taft is absolutely fair and just to both labor and capital. The organized labor vote has commanded much attention, in the present campaign, so much so that it is more or less disgusting to the great unorganized army of workmen. The majority of organized labor is and always has been naturally democratic or socialist. The republican party will hold the vote to which it is entitled.

Bryan and Bryanism are in the last ditch, and the desperate struggle now being made, is a life and death struggle. Bryan has everything to gain and nothing to lose. He is the best advertised man in the land, and his "Commoner" is making rapid strides toward the high-water mark in circulation. Democracy has everything to gain in his defeat for it is the only way the party can get rid of an incubus which has haunted it like a nightmare.

The last days of the campaign are bright with hope for the country, for the election of Taft is practically assured, and many lines of business have already discounted the future. While

You'll Be Pleased

With Our Fur Values

If you want to see the prettiest lot of furs you have ever had the pleasure of laying your eyes on—just visit our Fur Section at the present time.

We made up our minds that there wouldn't be any assortment in town that would touch ours this season—and were determined that our values would be superior to any offered. The effort was well worth while—for our sales this season have made a record mark. Just to illustrate our value giving, this season, we quote the following specials:

In the lower priced furs we can suit almost every taste.

The showing of River Mink Muffs and Scarfs is particularly attractive. Scarfs can be purchased as low as $1.25 and up to $5.00, while Muffs run from $3.50 to $8.00.

The Coats range in price from $55 to $80 in the best grades, and in the less expensive from $35 to $70.

We are showing the popular brown Marmot Fur Coats, a soft, pliable fur, very durable, especially nice for dress occasions, for riding and autoing. Lengths 36, 42 and 48 inches. It's a fur that is becoming very popular.

Our River Mink Fur Coats, both dark and light blended, are especially good values. They come in 24, 26 and 40 inch lengths.

The fitting of these garments is excellent. We have handled them for a long time and have had excellent satisfaction.

We have a number of Black Astrachan Coats, excellent fur, tightly curled and silky. This year we also show them in the larger sizes up to 44 and 46.

The Black Pony Skins come in 24 and 26 inch lengths, as well as the natural Pony Skins, in blended shades of brown and tan.

The Nearest Coats in both plain and Jap mink trimmed are here in good assortment. The illustration in the center shows one of the popular styles.

The animal shaped Ruga, or Muffs, so popular this season, are shown here in good assortment. The muffs are made of full sized skins, head and tails, with pocket for muff, while the rug ends can be arranged in different ways.

Scarfs and Muffs in Jap mink. We have an almost endless variety of these, as well as in the genuine mink sets and the black mink which is so scarce this year.

Blue Fox Sets. These colors are very hard to get as the dyes do not always take well in the soft blue shades which are so much desired and worn so well with suits. At $20 we have a full line of sets, muffs and throws to match.

Our furs are all bought early and inspected after they come in and we know that they are reliable in every way.

The Black Pony Skins come in 24 and 26 inch lengths, as well as the natural Pony Skins, in blended shades of brown and tan.

TOOK ME AT MY WORD

I said recently in my ad, "Come in and have a friendly chat with me about your teeth."

You will be under no obligations to have work done if you don't wish to."

A lady took me at my word, and after I had examined her teeth, and stated what I would charge to put her teeth in perfect order, she said, "You may do the work."

Upon paying her bill, she stated that I had saved her just $11.00 in gold money.

That's the way it goes, and

I am not soliciting my work either.

I think I do just as good work as any dentist, and furthermore,

I know I do, by almost daily comparison with the work of others as shown to me.

I simply make my fees moderate, so that everybody can afford to have their teeth saved.

Let me tell you personally about it.

A CRUEL JEST.

At Cleveland, O., some time ago, this advertisement appeared in the newspapers:

WANTED.—Two hundred laborers and teamsters immediately. Wages $2.50 per day. Apply D. E. BROWN, The Hollenden.

Mr. Brown was assistant superintendent of the Crucible Steel company of Pittsburg. He had just been married.

The newspaper account goes on to say:

"In blissful unconsciousness of the trouble in store for him Mr. Brown opened the door and was greeted by a delegation of teamsters and laborers who wanted work. He told them there must be some mistake.

"Downstairs he was stormed by 200 more. Packing his grip, he and his bride fled from the hotel. Friends of humorous instincts had perpetrated the joke and got much enjoyment out of Mr. Brown's discomfiture."

As to the latter expression—no doubt, Mr. Brown's friends were plucky of that sort who would get much enjoyment out of that gentleman's discomfiture regardless of the feelings of others.

But—What of the two or three hundred workmen so cruelly fooled to make a holiday for the friends of Mr. Brown? These men were looking for employment and needing work.

Who knows? Short meals may have been eaten in laborers' homes because of the disappointment. The cruel design may have blasted the hopes for a little money to pay on rent to save eviction or on pressing bills. Who knows?

It is no joke to be looking for work and be turned away.

It is just such wealthy snobs as these friends of Mr. Brown who by their callous feeling for the workingman, by their indifference for and contempt of the welfare of honest working people—it is these Gullies, who care not, who are widening the breach between capital and labor.

When decent, deserving, calloused handed laborers can be cruelly used to point the jests and adorn the practical jokes of rich young layabouts such an episode becomes a social tragedy.

How one wishes some of those big fisted workmen might have located the perpetrators of the joke!

WHIRLWIND FINISH FOR THE CAMPAIGN

ALL THE SPELLBINDERS WILL BE BUSY THIS WEEK.

HOT FIGHT FOR NEW YORK

Taft and Bryan to Lead Their Forces
In Supreme Effort to Capture the Empire
State.

New York, Oct. 25.—The political campaign, which is entering upon its last week, is to have a real whirlwind finish. From the highest to the lowest, all the spellbinders of all the parties will be out in force during the next six days and warring voters will be urged by eloquent advocates of the several causes to cast their ballots "right."

In practically every state of the union rallies and mass meetings almost without number have been arranged, but it is in New York, with its large number of electoral votes at stake, that the real battle will be waged. There practically all the leading candidates will concentrate their efforts, ably assisted by a large number of the country's most forceful and resourceful campaigners.

Cabinet Members in Ohio, Ohio and Indiana also will be given considerable attention, particularly by the two leading parties. Among the speakers who will urge the voters to support Mr. Taft will be several members of President Roosevelt's cabinet—Secretaries Root and Garfield and Postmaster General Meyer—and the Republican candidate for president himself delivers two formal addresses at Cleveland and Youngstown on Monday. Vice-President Fairbanks will head the Republican forces in Indiana, which will include Senators Beveridge and Hemenway, Edward L. Ozmun, consul general of the United States at Constantinople, John L. Griffen, United States consul at Liverpool, and Representative Gardner of Michigan.

Bryan's Fight for New York, Both Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan were in this city Sunday night. All the forces the Democratic national committee can summon will be brought to bear to secure the electoral vote of New York state for Bryan. Led by the presidential candidate himself, who will speak four days in this state, an army of speakers will be sent into every county and town to spread the doctrine and appeal for votes for the ticket. Mr. Bryan went to the cities and towns in the southern tier Saturday, and after two days' campaign in the greater city he will stump cities and towns that fringe the east shore of the Hudson river, which seldom are visited by Democratic candidates in search of support.

The Democratic campaign in the state, it is planned by the party managers, will receive its impetus from the meetings here Monday night at Madison Square Garden and in Brooklyn Tuesday. Besides these meetings, many others at which Mr. Bryan will speak have been arranged in different parts of the city. Tammany Hall has planned to make the Madison Square meeting the greatest demonstration given the candidate in this campaign, and red fire will burn and bands play in every assembly district on Manhattan island. Thursday night Mr. Bryan will leave the Empire state to devote the closing days of the contest to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

All the Spellbinders Busy, Meanwhile all the prominent campaigners the Democratic state and national committees can enlist have been sent to the 61 counties of New York state and to the doubtful states of the middle west. Among the leading speakers in New York state for the week will be ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, John Sharp Williams, Senator Isaac of Georgia, Gov. Hoke Smith of Georgia, Gov. J. H. Higgins of Rhode Island, and Gov. Ansel of South Carolina.

The Republican wind-up of the campaign in New York city calls for 22 mass meetings to be addressed by speakers of national reputation; a parade of the Republican clubs of Greater New York and a big parade of the business men's Republican association.

Big Republican Meeting, The big Republican event of the week will be the Madison Square Garden meeting on Wednesday night, at which Mr. Taft and Gov. Hughes will be the principal speakers. The other speakers will be Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan; George A. Knight of California, and United States Assistant District Attorney H. A. Atwood of Chicago. Gen. Horace Porter will preside.

Mr. Taft and Gov. Hughes will address four noonday meetings on Wednesday. Other Republican meetings of the week will be addressed by Secretary of State Root, Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Strauss, Attorney General Bonaparte, James S. Sherman, the vice-presidential candidate; Senator Dolliver, Congressman Herbert Parsons of New York, Congressman J. Francis Burke of Pennsylvania, and others.

Benjamin F. Russell Dies, St. Louis, Oct. 25.—Benjamin F. Russell, deputy internal revenue collector, and sergeant-at-arms of the national house of representatives for two years during the McKinley administration, died suddenly at his home here Sunday night as the result of an operation.

CONSUL GENERAL A SUICIDE

S. C. MCFARLAND KILLS SELF ON TRAIN IN GERMANY.

Was American Representative for European District—Born and Raised in Iowa.

Berlin, Oct. 25.—Silas C. McFarland of Iowa, consul-general-at-large for the European district, shot himself on a railroad train Saturday coming from Hamburg to Berlin. He died almost immediately.

The American vice-consul general, Frederick W. Caldwell, and Deputy Consul General Frederick von Voss arranged Sunday at Ludwigsplatz for the removal of the body. It will be taken to Hamburg and cremated in accordance with a request made by Mr. McFarland in a letter which he left for his wife, and which also was full of loving messages.

Mr. McFarland, just before his death, also wrote letters to his daughter and to the consul general at Berlin, Alexander M. Thackara, as well as a letter to the public, in which he said that he was constrained to take his life by reason of his ill health and because he could no longer perform the duties of his position.

Representative Robert G. Cousins of Iowa and many other Iowa friends have sent their condolences to Mrs. McFarland and her daughter. Mr. McFarland left the continent for Washington six weeks ago. He was returning to Berlin to resign his wife when he committed suicide.

Mr. McFarland was appointed consul-general-at-large June 10, 1908. His territory was Europe, excepting European Russia, the Balkan states and Greece. Prior to this appointment Mr. McFarland was consul at Nottingham and at Helsenborg, and was made consul general at St. Gall, Switzerland, in 1907.

Mr. McFarland was born at Mount Pleasant, Ia., June 3, 1859, educated at Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., and Wesleyan university. He was married in 1886 at Des Moines to Marie Elhoeck. Before entering the consular service he was editor and publisher of the Marshalltown (Ia.) Times.

ARRESTED ON SWINDLE CHARGE, W. H. Hopkins Accused of Using the Mails to Defraud.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—Wallace H. Hopkins has been arrested here at the instance of post-office inspectors on the charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Hopkins, it is charged, engaged in business under the name of the Hopkins company, of 181 La Salle street, Chicago, and, claiming to be fiscal agent for the consolidated Zinc Company, announced that he represented a merger of mines in Wisconsin and Missouri. The prospectus and other printed matter which he is charged with sending through the mails, inviting the purchase of stock, gave the capital stock of the company at $20,000,000 and for one dollar offered to send two shares of stock, one each of common and preferred, on which Hopkins guaranteed to pay. It is claimed, a minimum of 12 per cent. interest per annum.

FOREST FIRES IN INDIANA.

Considerable Damage Has Been Done in Dubois County.

Jasper, Ind., Oct. 25.—Forest fires have been raging in Dubois county, a few miles south of Jasper, for the past 24 hours, and considerable damage has been done.

The McCord sawmill in the Patoka bottoms was destroyed by the flames, and another sawmill was damaged. Several farmers saved their houses by plowing furrows around them. It is feared the fire will not have spent its fury until a good rain falls.

Oswald Guthrie, Chicago, Dead, Chicago, Oct. 25.—Oswald Guthrie, one of the oldest and most interesting of Chicago's old settlers, died Sunday after an illness of 15 weeks. He was 82 years old and death was due to a combination of years and kidney trouble. Mr. Guthrie was known as the "father of Chicago's drainage system," and as one of the most enthusiastic geologists and engineers in the middle west.

Jail Delivery at Madison, Wis., Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—Sheriff Kitten and a posse are scouring Dane county in pursuit of three brothers, Hugo, Albert and Rudolph Donnerstag, alleged counterfeiters, who broke jail here Sunday evening. The brothers are believed to have had assistance from outside.

Murdered by Highway Robbers, Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 25.—Hugh McGulre, a well-known resident of Camp Hill, a suburb, was killed by highway robbers between that place and Carnegie. He was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head and then thrown into the creek, where he drowned.

Well-Known Banker Is Dead, New York, Oct. 25.—William Henry Rogers, president of the Nassau bank of this city and one of the notable figures in metropolitan banking circles, died Sunday at his home in Brooklyn, aged 71 years.

Dr. Parkhurst Quits the S. P. C., New York, Oct. 25.—It became known Sunday that Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst has resigned the presidency of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, an office which he has held for 17 years.

The World's Wool Production, The world's wool record is held by Australia, with Argentine second and the United States third.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Oct. 26, 1868.—Re-laying of Track Over Bridge.—The railroad companies, finding it difficult to re-lay the track over the upper railroad bridge during week days, on account of the frequent passage of trains, went to work at it early yesterday morning and proposed the work all day. By night they had laid down a half mile of track, in doing which they had secured a double track over the bridge, thus obviating the necessity of stopping trains from the north before crossing the bridge as it had hitherto been necessary to do. We believe the companies propose to make a re-adjustment of the track between Janesville and Milton Junction as to do away with the crossing between these two points.

Rock County Sunday School Teachers' Institute.—At a meeting of a committee appointed by the board of Christian education, Presbyterian and Methodist Sunday Schools respectively, held this morning, it was decided to hold a Sunday School Teachers' Institute in Rock County, sometime about the third week in November. A general committee of arrangements consisted of one from each school was appointed, as follows: J. F. Wright, E. Harrows, Geo. F. Lane, and O. J. DeBorja. It is the design to obtain some of the most eminent Sunday School talent in the Northwest to take part in the institute.

The Old Cocks Crow and the Young Ones Learn.—Some of the boys in one of the yards in this city, between the ages of five and nine, took it into their heads to hold a Republican Mass meeting on Saturday last. In imitation, we suppose, of what they saw their dads do here on the 19th. They accordingly selected the ground, elected a platform, engaged a speaker, organized a company of Tanners, procured banners, flags, drums, and all the paraphernalia of a first class demonstration and went into it with a gusto and enthusiasm that ought to rebuke some of their lukewarm parents. Everything went as merry as a marriage bell, and the cheering, drum-beating, and other sorts of noise and confusion were worthy of a first class demonstration, until the hour struck for the speech when it was discovered that the orator of the day was not on hand. But the infants were not to be fooled in this manner, and with true Young Third Week in November, a general American girl, determined to have a speech, so they called upon an eight-year-old Tanner, who promptly responded, as follows: J. F. Wright, E. Harrows, Geo. F. Lane, and O. J. DeBorja. It is the design to obtain some of the most eminent Sunday School talent in the Northwest to take part in the institute.

READ THE NEW BONUS OFFER

All Names With Less Than 10,000 Votes Were Left Off The List On Account Of Lack Of Space. They Will Be Replaced At Any Time Upon Request Or At Any Time The Candidate Votes Enough To Pass That Number.

The New Bonus Offer

A certificate for 10,000 votes will be given with every $30.00 worth of business turned into the office by next Monday night at 10 P. M. This includes both "old" and "new" subscribers, and the certificate is given in addition to the regular votes issued on each subscription. All business previously turned in, and not checked off in one of the "club" offers will be included in this proposition. Get at least one of the certificates.

Once more we call attention to who would be the winners if the contest ended today. Of course this is a case of "what if" and is based only on the score published in the paper. All candidates well know this is not the true situation in many of them have a nice stock of votes held in reserve, which if placed in the ballot box would in all probability change matters about a great deal. But as a case of "what might have been" it is interesting. It doesn't indicate that this will be anything like the order in which the real finish will be made. Those whose names do not appear in the above list may be found at the top of the heap, and those whose names, in this supposition case, win prizes may be found in far different positions when the contest closes.

However, both those who appear in the honor positions tonight and those who do not, will appreciate the necessity for sincere, earnest and persistent effort from this time until the gong taps on the night of November 7.

A Little Perseverance, And now that you have seen what would have happened, wouldn't it be well enough to sort of oil up your perseverance machinery and cut right in. And if you are figuring on getting into the "what really happened" class, go about it full of faith and hope and cheerfulness and confidence. In a contest of such gigantic proportions, with so many valuable prizes, where the contestants are all people well known and approved standing in the community, there is no necessity for feeling that an apology is necessary when asking for a subscription.

Don't be an apologet. It isn't a good thing to feel that an apology even to one's self is necessary. Successful merchants have found that it pays to advertise. It's a gentle and forgetful thing. Don't apologize, advertise. This race is going to be won by the strong-minded, red-blooded, whole-hearted, never-say-die candidates. And they are beginning to realize that the race has now reached the stage where gameness and ability to stand a terrible pace are two much-desired qualities.

No man ever did anything worth doing by accident. His victory over circumstances was the result of one strong, unwavering purpose. No great thing has ever been accomplished without overcoming hosts of obstacles; without patience and perseverance. Perseverance built the Pyramids on Egypt's plains; perseverance scaled the stormy, cloud-capped Alps; it opened up a highway through the watery wilderness of the Atlantic, constructed the telegraph, the telephone and the cable, made the Wright brothers masters of the air, laughed at a thousand failures and finally built the successful chug-chug buggy. Perseverance is the one pre-eminent, dominating influence that is behind everything that is worth while in this world.

Be firm in your intention to win. The man who resolves, but allows his resolution to be changed by the first rebuff, who fluctuates from opinion to opinion, from plan to plan and veers, like a weather vane, to every point of the compass with every breath of caprice, but blows, never accomplishes anything great or useful or lasting. If you are in this contest, resolve firmly to be a prize winner, and then execute that resolution with indelible perseverance, undiminished by the small and petty difficulties that appear as obstacles, only to the weaker spirits in the race. Just plain, ordinary ability and common sense accomplish wonders for the man who gives himself wholly to what he is about.

Perseverance! That's the word. Opposing circumstances only create strength in the man or woman who is made of the right kind of clay. Who will not recognize the patient, persevering, energetic, fearless man of industry?

OLD FOLKS' DAY
WAS CELEBRATEDCARGILL METHODIST CHURCH
HELD SPECIAL SERVICE.

"THE INNER ROOM" OF MAN

Was the Subject of Reverend Tippet's
Sermon—Sunday School
Held Its Rally.

At the Cargill Methodist Church yesterday was celebrated Old Folks' Day and the Sunday School Rally. A special sermon on the "Inner Room" was given by Reverend Tippet in the morning and the Sunday school held special exercises, a charming little program being arranged.

In taking up his subject, "The Inner Room," Reverend Tippet took two texts, one from Psalm 14, fourth verse, and the 22 Psalm, second verse, dividing his talk into two divisions. In opening he said: "Communion with your own heart and be still, and 'The maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters.' 'The Inner Room,' as spoken of by T. Tippet, is that part of the soul which we ourselves know and with which no one else is acquainted. He stated that everybody, large or small, or little or great, lived two lives. Not that he meant that each one of us lived in two separate places, or spheres of life. First, there is the outer sphere in which we meet our friends and loved ones and business acquaintances, and then, there is the other sphere or 'The Inner Room' of the soul, in which no stranger may see.

God in making us has made us very lonely and also very great. We are like islands of the sea, upon which the waters wash and swell and break over each of us, but we know not what struggles and conflicts are going on with those around us. We must face these struggles and conflicts alone. We each have our own God-given nature; there we are alone and no man knows what we do or what we hear there. But God in making us lonely has also made us very great. No two of us are exactly alike. It is impossible to find two persons who are exactly similar in features. There may be some who at first sight it would be hard to distinguish the one from the other. No more are there two people alike than there are two blades of grass which are exactly similar.

He then spoke of the rapidly with which our thoughts fit and the spaces which can be covered in a second's time by the mind. With what wonderful rapidity can your thoughts go from one end of the world to another? You who are sitting here perhaps can in a second's time transfer your thoughts from here to as far as Australia.

Some may what a pity it is that God has made us so lonely, but this loneliness is man's greatestness. The inner room is the glory of a man's life. It is a harbor in time of storm; it is a place of safety when all things seemed to be drawing to an end. It is a garden which blooms in the winter when without are winds and snow and cold.

Coming to the second part of the sermon, "He leadeth me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters." He said that in reading this verse, we could imagine the shepherd wrote these words lying on a green hillside and in his thought, looking back to some of the scenes of his childhood when he had been a shepherd-boy. He saw the days when he led the sheep out on the burning plain to feed and how the sheep seemed to look at him and say with their eyes, "Lead us to the green pastures," and he led them where the green pastures were and where there were cool still waters. Even as he was grateful to the Lord for leading him to green pastures, so the sheep seemed to be grateful. The singer seemed to see himself in his sheep. The shepherd came and led them, and the shepherds have whistled about him, but he sought the great Shepherd and He led the way to green fields and beside still waters.

The Shepherd beckons and if we follow we will find that he also leads us out-of-doors. Out where we can enjoy the beauties of the fields and the woods and the sky and the perfume of the flowers. God loves to have his people go out and enjoy the out-of-doors. Jesus lived out-of-doors. His face was tanned by the sun and healed by the rain. Men and women should therefore follow His example. Ofttimes the shepherd leads his flock out into the storm and we find that the Great Shepherd also turns His flock into the storm. This causes much discussion in the minds of men, but God is more concerned with our strength than with our comfort. God is concerned not that we get along easily, but that we reach some point or accomplish something in the world. Many of the men and women who were great have not accomplished the fullest measure of their life work until late in their lives. Cato, Socrates, in the times of the ancients, and Edward Beecher, Pope Leo and Altes Nightingale in more modern times did the greatest work that they accomplished long after they had passed the half-century mark. Some people are never so much able to accomplish things as when their physical strength has failed them and they have to lean on others for support. Moral force is at all times greater than physical force. As soon as we feel able to anything in the world we should attempt it.

The best advice that can be given to any one is to keep in touch with the world. The Gospel says that we should become acquainted with everybody and know people and this loneliness extends only to the sphere of the soul. If you are lonesome and sad and all of your friends are dead and you feel that life holds no more sweetness for you, God will comfort you and lead you by the still waters of his love.

The religion of Christ is a religion of friendliness and helpfulness. Christian Science says that there is no path; that path is only the desire of an unenlightened mind and therefore when their friends and dear relatives are in the agonies of death they allow them to suffer without making any demonstration of pity or of helping them to bear the pain. Christianity is rich in human kindness and in ministering to the needs of the suffering, and is full of common sense. It helps in the real trials of this life and drops a tear of sympathy and pity for the oppressed.

Christian Science is like an ostrich, which hides its head in the sand and knows not of what goes on outside of what it can see. Christianity is like an eagle which with its sharp eyes can see all of the suffering and need of the world and yet as it goes upward it realizes that through and beyond the dark clouds which seem to hover over the land lies the bright sun of happiness.

God restores the souls of men and is therefore a Father. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. From the heart go the pulsating streams of life which keep us living; the heart is the center of all of the joys of life, and the heart which is stayed upon God is undimmed by anything. When God makes a banquet for his people, He always keeps the best wine until the last, so all of the joys of life come during the last years of a man's life.

BELOIT HIGH SCHOOL
WON FOOTBALL GAME

With Janesville by the Score of 23 to 5—Had a Big Advantage

Janesville's high school football team was defeated by the score of 23 to 5 in the game with the Beloit high school eleven at the Lake City, Saturday. It was the third contest and third defeat for the local players this season. Beloit had a big advantage in weight and its line was a stone-wall proposition during the greater part of the twenty-minute halves. Notwithstanding this, the local players put up a scrappy game from the time the whistle blew to the finish. It felt, the gritty football, Left End Merrill, and Right Tackle Wilkinson were the star players for Janesville. Near the close of the second half, after Beloit had scored its 23 points, the locals, by dint of clever head work and determined playing, got within striking distance of Beloit's goal. Tippet pointed with the end and the ball rolled over the goal line Merrill fell on it. Tippet failed to kick goal; the playing was resumed; and the game ended with the ball on Janesville's own yard line. The line-up was as follows:

The name of the league is the Beloit College High School Debating League and a constitution was adopted at the business meeting of which Prof. Bach was chosen chairman.

The first debates, between teams of these members, will be held on December 18. Janesville will debate Beloit on that date, and Beloit will debate La Crosse and the Illinois schools will have two debates. BARN BURNED WHILE
FAMILY WAS ASLEEP

Six Head of Horses, Grain, and Machinery Belonging to Lora Nooy of Town of Milton Destroyed.

Lora Nooy of the town of Milton woke from sound slumber Saturday morning, dressed, and started out to do the chores, only to discover that his barn and all its contents, including six head of horses, had been destroyed by fire during the night. Though the structure was located but a few rods from the farm-house, no member of the family had any intimation of what was transpiring. The carcasses of the helpless livestock were found in one spot where the crazed creatures had huddled together after finding all avenues of escape cut off. Grain, machinery, and a quantity of new lumber went up in smoke. There was some insurance on the barn but none on its contents. That the fire was of incendiary origin seems probable. A few nights ago Mr. Nooy was summoned to the back yard by the barking of his watchdog and found a strange man in hiding there. The next evening the same individual was seen hanging about the premises and the dog was set upon him.

Extinct Stars Still Visible.
It is a fact, startling as it may seem, that many of the stars we see twinkling in the sky at night, may have ceased to exist centuries ago.

Some of these stars are so distant that even light takes hundreds or thousands of years to travel from them to us; and the rays which enable us to see them today may have left them thousands of years ago. We see them, not as they are today, but as they were long ago ago.

TUESDAY LAST DAY FOR REGISTRATION

A Large Number of Citizens in Every Ward Are Not Yet on the Eligible List.

Tomorrow, Tuesday, is the last day for the registration of those who intend to vote at the forthcoming election. It will be necessary for parties whose names are not on the lists to either appear in person at the various election boards, and, in the Fourth ward, at the blacksmith shop at the foot of Dodge street, or send affidavits of their qualifications (either). All investigation made by one of the campaign committees a day or two ago, showed that over seventy citizens in two of the wards are not listed as eligible to vote.

Inquisitiveness Rebuked.
An Elkhorn man chased from his house with a shotgun the doctor who proposed to hold an autopsy on a body of the citizen's wife for gratification of scientific curiosity. There will be no tendency to blame him, The Paul Pry with a scalpel is annoyingly inquisitive.

The Day and His Dad.
A boy who has the brotherly interest of his father is lucky. Sometimes a wild lad does not seem to have much in common with his father and it will be the mother's task to discover something which they can do together—play dominoes, chess, read the same book or anything to give a kindred sympathy.

Mistaken Identity.

BATTLESHIPS SAIL AWAY FROM JAPAN

DEPARTURE OF THE FLEET IS A BEAUTIFUL SPECTACLE.

NOT A CASE OF DESERTION

Behavior of American Sailors Elicits
Praise from Japanese—Preparations for the Entertainment at Amoy.

Tokyo, Oct. 25.—The departure of the American battleship fleet Sunday was one of the prettiest features of the week, as well as the final event in the visit of the Americans.

The flagship Connecticut slipped her cable at exactly eight o'clock. She steamed past the Japanese and saluted and was followed by the remainder of the first squadron. When the eight ships had passed, the Louisiana led the second line, and the entire fleet then formed in single column. As each of the American battleships passed the head of the Japanese column, the crews of the ships of both nations cheered enthusiastically and the band on each of the American ships played the Japanese national hymn. When the last of the 16 ships was sailing, the Connecticut was invisible on the horizon. Within exactly 16 minutes the entire maneuver had been completed.

President's Message to Emperor.
President Roosevelt's message to the emperor was presented to him through Count Komura, the foreign minister, and the emperor will probably make a reply Monday, but there is no reason to expect that the emperor's message will contain other than a graceful acknowledgment and an expression of gratification at the president's warm words of appreciation. Nothing could possibly exceed in the public mind in Japan the significance of the emperor's previous message.

The Japanese naval men are loud in their praise of the behavior of the American sailors, and are especially appreciative of Rear Admiral Sperry's bearing throughout. Among the enlisted men there was not a single case of actual desertion.

All the members of the United States commission to the Tokyo exposition will be decorated by the emperor. Francis H. Loomis, Frederick J. V. Skiff and Francis D. Millett receiving one of the highest class orders, and John C. O'Laughlin and W. A. Newcomb receiving a lower class.

Amoy Preparing for Fleet.

Amoy, Oct. 25.—Order is being rapidly established at the reception grounds where the recent typhoon wrought destruction. Bamboo structures have replaced the ruined buildings, and the original plans for the entertainment of the officers and men of the American fleet are likely to be carried out fully.

All classes consider the visit of the Americans a highly important event. The schools will close for a week, and the custom house, the consulates, banks and large business houses will close at 11 a. m. each day.

The revolutionist plot which was unearthed Saturday causes great anxiety, the government officials fearing that its ramifications may be far reaching. The object of the revolutionists was the assassination of high Chinese officials during the reception, and as a consequence of the discovery of the plans, extraordinary precautions are being taken.

FINE GIFT TO SOUTH BEND.

Y. M. C. A. Building, Presented by Studebaker Bros., Is Dedicated.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 25.—The Y. M. C. A. building erected by Studebaker Brothers' Manufacturing Company, at a cost of $250,000, was dedicated and formally given over to the association Sunday afternoon, before a large attendance. Col. George M. Studebaker made the presentation address, giving the property into the keeping of the association with absolutely no restrictions.

Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks made the principal address, paying tribute to the Studebaker brothers and their sons and thanking them not only for the city, but also for the state and nation, for their magnificent gift. J. M. Studebaker, Sr., head of the firm, and the last of the five brothers to whose memory the building has been erected, made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. Ten thousand persons inspected the building.

IN MEMORY OF HARRISON

MONUMENT TO EX-PRESIDENT TO BE UNVEILED TUESDAY.

Military Parade to Precede Ceremonies at Indianapolis—Fairbanks Is Among the Speakers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—Arrangements are complete for the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Gen. Benjamin Harrison monument in this city on Tuesday afternoon. A parade, participated in by the Tenth United States Infantry, one regiment of Indiana National Guard and a number of state G. A. R. posts, will precede the exercises at the monument. Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks, John W. Noble of St. Louis and John L. Griffiths of Indianapolis will be the speakers.

The monument stands on the south end of University park, midway between Pennsylvania and Meridian streets, facing the Federal building recently erected at a cost of over $2,000,000.

Miss Elizabeth Harrison, the youngest daughter of former President Harrison, will draw the cord releasing the flag at the unveiling. This incident, it is anticipated, will be one of the prettiest of the day.

On the speakers' stand will be seven laurel wreaths, with the name of a department of the government on each wreath. These will be draped with bunting. Back of the stand will be also wreaths, each inscribed with the name of a statesman. There will be 46 flags along the south side of University park, each surmounted by a United States flag. Each of these flags represents a state of the union, and will be so designated, the names being inscribed in wreaths of laurel. The flags have been sent from Washington especially for this use.

Between the flags will be rails and above these rails will be a continuous garland of laurel.

Regrets have been received from all departmental officials of Washington who had been asked to attend the ceremonies. Practically all of these are engaged in the present political campaign and can not spare the necessary time. Gen. John W. Noble and Gen. Foster and other members of Harrison's cabinet, however, will attend.

GOV. HASKELL GIVEN THE LIE.

Interior Department Tells Osage Indians His Charges Are False.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—A statement was received Sunday at the office of the commissioner of the Five Civilized Tribes from the interior department at Washington with instructions to publish the same for the information of the Osage Nation, directly concerned, and the Five Civilized Tribes, incidentally interested, and to take every necessary step to bring it to the notice of the individual Osage Indians.

The statement is an answer to Gov. Haskell's recent charges, for the information of the Indians of the Osage Nation, and says:

"Gov. Haskell's recent open letter to the president charges that the president acted unfairly to the Osage Indians in the matter of fixing the royalty for the lease of their oil lands to the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company. Gov. Haskell's statements are deliberate falsehoods; nor does he suggest a possible remedy. As his disregard of truth is wilful, no reply will be made to him personally, but President Roosevelt and Secretary Garfield are not willing that the Osage Indians should not know the truth about those matters, in order that they may not be deceived by Gov. Haskell's false statements. For this reason they send to the Indians the truth about each of the charges he makes."

The statement takes up Haskell's charges in detail and analyzes them to show their "deliberate untruth."

SERBIA MAKES A WAR MOVE.

Calls Out Reserves and Orders Guns and Military Automobiles.

London, Oct. 25.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Belgrade says that the Serbian government has called out all the first reserves and has ordered Khaki for the troops, 200 Maxim guns and 400 military automobiles.

According to this dispatch, King Peter has informed the Turkish minister that an alliance probably has been concluded between Serbia and Montenegro, but that this is no way interference with the friendship of those countries for Turkey.

Many Arrests at Reelfoot Lake.

Camp Mono, Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., Oct. 25.—Forty-four more prisoners, including two women, were brought in Sunday as the result of the murder at Walnut Log of Capt. Quentin Rankin by masked riders. In addition seven others, including one woman, were arrested by the troops but paroled.

Court-Martial at Fort Wayne Opens.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—A court-martial began at Fort Wayne Monday to try Col. Daniel Corbman, commander at Fort Wayne, and Capt. Charles G. French, quartermaster of the Seventh Infantry, on charges involving the alleged illegal distribution of forage at Fort Wayne. Gen. Fred D. Grant is presiding.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25.—The Missouri Universalist convention Sunday night voted in favor of the merger of that church with the Unitarian, Dutch Reformed and Reformed Congregational churches.

Chapter 9

ALVIN walked swiftly to the door, flung it open full width and stood stock still.

And Mrs. Ruthven entered the room, partly closing the door behind her, her gloved hand still resting on the knob.

For a moment they confronted one another, he tall, right, astounded; she pale, supple, relaxing a trifle against the half closed door behind her, which yielded and closed with a low click.

At the sound of the closing door he found his voice. It did not resemble his own voice either to himself or to her, but she answered his bewildered question:

"I don't know why I came. Is it so very dreadful? Have I offended you? I did not suppose that men cared about conventions."

"But why on earth did you come?" he repeated. "Are you in trouble?"

"I seem to be now," she said, with a tremulous laugh. "You are frightening me to death, Captain Selwyn."

Still dazed, he found the first chair at hand and dragged it toward her.

"Thank you," she said, passing before him. She laid her hand on the chair, looked a moment at him and sank into it.

Resting there, her pale cheek against her muff, she smiled at him, and every nerve in him quivered with pity.

"World without end, amen," she said. "Let the judgment of man pass."

"The judgment of this man passes very gently," he said, looking down at her. "What brings you here, Mrs. Ruthven?"

"Will you believe me?"

"Yes."

"Then it is simply the desire of the friendship for a friend, nothing else, nothing more subtle, nothing of frontier, nothing worse. Do you believe me?"

"I don't understand."

"Try to."

"Do you mean that you have differed with?"

"Him?" She laughed. "Oh, no. I was talking of real people, not of myths. And real people are not very friendly to me always, not that they are disagreeable, you understand, but a trifle overcautious, and my most intimate friend kisses me a little too frequently. By the way, she has quite succumbed to you, I hear."

"Who do you mean?"

"Why, Rosamund."

"I said something under his breath and looked at her impatiently."

"Didn't you know it?" she asked, smiling.

"Know what?"

"That Rosamund is quite crazy about you. There's no use scowling and squaring your chin. Oh, I ought to know what that indicates. I've watched you do it often enough, but the fact is that the handsomest and smartest woman in town is forever dining your perfections into my ears."

He drew up a chair, seated himself very deliberately and spoke, his unlighted pipe in his left hand:

"The girl I left—the girl who left me—was a modest, clean thinking, clean minded girl, who also had a brain to use and employed it. What ever conclusion that girl arrived at concerning the importance of marriage vows is no longer my business. But the moment she confronts me again, offering friendship, then I may use a friend's privilege, as I do. And so I tell you that loosely fashionable badinage bores me. And another matter—privileged by the friendship you acknowledge—forces me to ask you a question, and I ask it, point blank. Why have you again permitted Gerald to count for the horror of her disillusion."

What splendors had she dreamed of from the outside? What flashing and informal signal had beckoned her to enter? What mute eyes had promised? What silent smile invited? All skulls seem to grin, but the world has yet to hear them laugh.

"Phil?"

"Yes, Alize."

"I did my best, without offending Gerald. Can you believe me?"

"I know you did. Don't mind what I said."

"No, not now. You do believe me, don't you?"

"Yes, I do."

"Thank you. And, Phil, I will try to be a sterner straight—because you ask me."

"You must."

"I will. It is good to be here. I must not come again, must I?"

"Not again, Alize."

"On your account."

"I didn't know. Why say—"

"What?" he asked sharply.

"A rumor—I heard it—others speak of it—perhaps to be disagreeable to me."

"What have you heard?"

"That—that you might marry again."

"Well, you can tell that lie," he said hotly.

"Then it is not true?"

"True! Do you think I'd take that chance again, even if I felt free to do it?"

"Free?" she faltered. "But you are free, Phil?"

"I am not," he said, fiercely. "No man is free to marry twice under such conditions. It's a jest at decency and a slap in the face of civilization! I'm done for—finished. I had my chance and I failed. Do you think I consider myself free to try again, with the chance of further bespattering my family?"

"Wait until your really love," she this wretched mess we have made of life? Do you think my roughness and abruptness come from anything but pity—pity for us both, I tell you? Do you think I can remain unmoved looking on the atrocious punishment you have inflicted on yourself—lathered to—to that—for life—the poison of the contact showing in your altered voice and manner, in the things you laugh at, in the things you live for, in the twisted, misshapen limbs that your friends set up on a heap of surges for you to worship? Even if we've passed through the sea of mire, can't we at least clear the path from our eyes and see straight and steer straight to the anchorage?"

She had covered her pallid face with her muff. He bent forward, his hand on the arm of her chair.

Her gloved hand, moving at random, encountered his and closed on it convulsively.

"Do you understand?" he repeated. "You, Phil?"

Head still sinking, face covered with the silvery fear, the tremors from her body set her hand quivering on his.

Heartsick, he forbore to ask for the explanation. He knew the real answer anyway, whatever she might say, and he understood that any game in that house was Ruthven's game and the guests his guests and that Gerald was only one of the younger men who had been wronged dry in that house.

No doubt at all that Ruthven needed the money. He had been picked up by a big, hard eyed woman who had almost forgotten how to laugh until she found him furtively muzzling her diamond laden fingers. So when she discovered that he could sit up and beg and roll over at a nod she let him follow her, and since then he had become indispensable and had curled up on many a soft and silken knee and had sought and fetched and carried for many a pretty woman what she herself did not care to touch even with white gloved fingers.

What had she expected when she married him? Only innocent ignorance of the set he ornamented could nevered tremulously.

He laughed incredulously.

"I am glad that it is not true, I am glad," she said. "Oh, Phil, Phil, for a single one of the chances we had again and again and again! And we did not know—we did not know! And yet—there were moments!"

Dry lips he looked at her, and dry of eye and lip she raised her head and stared at him, through him, far beyond at the twin ghosts floating under the tropic stars looked fast in their first embrace.

"Then she rose, blindly, covering her face with her hands, and he stumbled to his feet, shrinking back from her—because dead fires were flickering again, and the ashes of dead roses stirred above the scented embers—and the image of all the past was descending like a veil upon them, and the phantom of the past drew nearer, smiling, wide armed, crowned with living blossoms."

The tide rose, swaying here where she stood. Her hands fell from her face. Between them the grave they had dug seemed almost filled with flowers now, was lifting fast, and across it they looked at one another as though stunned. Then his face paled, and he stepped back, staring at her from stern eyes.

"Phil," she faltered, bewildered by the mirage, "is it only a bad dream, after all?" And as the false, mangle gloved into blinding splendor to engulf them, "Oh, boy, boy, is it hell or heaven where we've fallen?"

There came a loud rapping at the door.

"Phil," she wrote, "I am a little frightened. Do you suppose floods swept when it was? I must have been perfectly mad to go to your rooms that night, and we both were to leave the door unlocked with the chance of somebody walking in. But, Phil, how could I know it was the fashion for your friends to bang like that and then come in without the excuse of a response from you?"

"I have been so worried, so anxious, hoping from day to day that you would write to reassure me that floods did not recognize me with my back turned to him and my muff across my eyes."

"But feared and humiliated as I am I realize that it was well that he knocked. Even as I write to you here in my own room, behind locked doors, I am burning with the shame of it."

"But I am not that kind of woman, Phil. Truly, truly I am not. When the foolish impulse seized me I had no clear idea of what I wanted except to see you and learn for myself what you thought about Gerald's playing at my house after I had promised not to let him."

"Of course I understood what I risked in going. I realized what common interpretation might be put upon what I was doing. But, ugly as it might appear to anybody except you, my motive, you see, must have been quite innocent, also I should have been about it in a very different manner."

"I wanted to see you; that is absolutely all. I was lonely for a word, even a harsh one, from the sort of man you are. I wanted you to believe it was in spite of me that Gerald came and played that night."

"He came without my knowledge. I did not know he was invited, and when he appeared I did everything to prevent him from playing. You will never know what took place, what I submitted to."

"I am trying to be truthful, Phil. I want to lay my heart bare for you, but there are things a woman cannot wholly confess. Believe me, I did what I could."

"I remember what you said about an anchorage. I am trying to clear those haunted eyes of mine and steer clear of phantoms for the honor of what we once were to each other before the world. That steering a ghost ship through endless tempests is hard labor, Phil, so be a little kind, a little more than patient, if my hand grows tired at the wheel."

"What do you think of me? Asking you shows how much I care. Dread of your opinion has turned me coward until this last page. What do you think of me? I am perfectly unobscured about floods, but that is partly fright, though I know I am safe enough with such a man. But what ails my cheeks blazing so that I cannot bear to face my own eyes in the mirror is the fear of what you must think of me in the still, secret places of that heart of yours, which I never, never understand."

BRYAN AND TAFT IN EAST

BOTH ARRIVE IN NEW YORK FOR THE FINAL DASH.

Democratic Candidate Says His Party Has Gained in Every State—Rival Is Confident.

New York, Oct. 25.—After a week of hard campaigning William J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for president, rested Sunday in this city, at the residence of Nathan Strauss. Monday morning early Mr. Bryan went to Patterson, N. J., in fulfillment of a pledge made last week to make a speech there. At the conclusion of the meeting he will return again to New York city.

In reply to inquiries Mr. Bryan said things looked very encouraging to him and that his prospects were very bright in both Indiana and Ohio. The Democrats, he asserted, have gained this year in every state and in every occupation.

New York, Oct. 25.—William J. Taft reached New York at 6:15 o'clock Sunday night from Gary, Ind., where he closed the campaign in that state. The 18-hour journey afforded the candidate complete rest from talking, and he took advantage of the opportunity to the fullest extent. Henry W. Taft met his brother at the station and took him to his residence, where he spent the night.

The first lap of Mr. Taft's eastern campaign began Monday with a run to New Haven, Conn. In the evening he will address a meeting in Brooklyn.

"I have campaigned in 21 states," said Mr. Taft Sunday night. "I expect to carry all of them with the exception of those south of Mason and Dixon's line, and possibly Maryland and Missouri. The situation looks better than at any previous time, and I shall enter upon the last lap of the campaign with a great deal of interest and enthusiasm."

Asked to particularize as to the results in various states, Ohio, for instance, Mr. Taft said he hadn't a doubt that Ohio would be strongly for him.

"If I couldn't carry my own state I wouldn't deserve to be running for president," he said.
